Becky Taylor Doctoral Fellows Dissemination Award

The purpose of the Becky Taylor Doctoral Fellows Dissemination Award is to support the dissemination of DNP Capstone Project results intended to improve family and societal-based health care.

Applications will be sought for competitive support for those students whose research interests focus on nursing approaches to enhance family and societal health.

Requirements for Dissemination Award:

All applicants must be currently enrolled in the Doctor of Nursing Practice Program with Minnesota State University, Mankato as their home institution. In addition, the successful applicant will note progress to date on the DNP Project Proposal in the Project Proposal Description as a component of the Application. A letter of support from a faculty mentor for the DNP Project and current curriculum vitae (CV) or resume is also required.

Applicants will be considered for awards based on a merit review of their application materials and available Fellowship resources. Awards will support expenses related to DNP research dissemination, i.e. posters, travel expenses to conference where research is presented, conference registration. Recipients must be doctoral students with good academic standing.

Further Requirements of Awardees:

- Networking seminars with doctoral student colleagues and faculty
- Permission to post name, address, title of DNP project, and dissemination activities on School of Nursing website
- Written report of dissemination activities within 2 months of presentation/publication
